Magnificent historic buildings and gardens: from Lake Constance and the Upper Rhine, to the Electoral Palatinate and Hohenlohe.

If you want to see Baden-Württemberg at its most beautiful, visit the many palaces and gardens run by the state heritage agency, Staatliche Schlösser und Gärten. How about the fairy-tale Renaissance palace at Weikersheim? Or maybe a perfectly-preserved monastery complex, such as the UNESCO World Heritage Site in Maulbronn? Or there's Heidelberg's world-famous ruins, while Ludwigsburg offers a grand Baroque palace with a special museum just for children. And in Schwetzingen, you can stroll back through the centuries in the glorious palace gardens. And there's much, much more...

We wish all visitors a warm welcome! We've thrown the palace gates wide open, and whenever you choose to visit, there is always something to do: special tours, walks with guides in historical costumes, memorable events, and countless activities for children. What's more, our palaces and monasteries create an extra-special backdrop for any occasion.

Our heritage, your adventure.

Discover the cultural landmarks of southwest Germany.

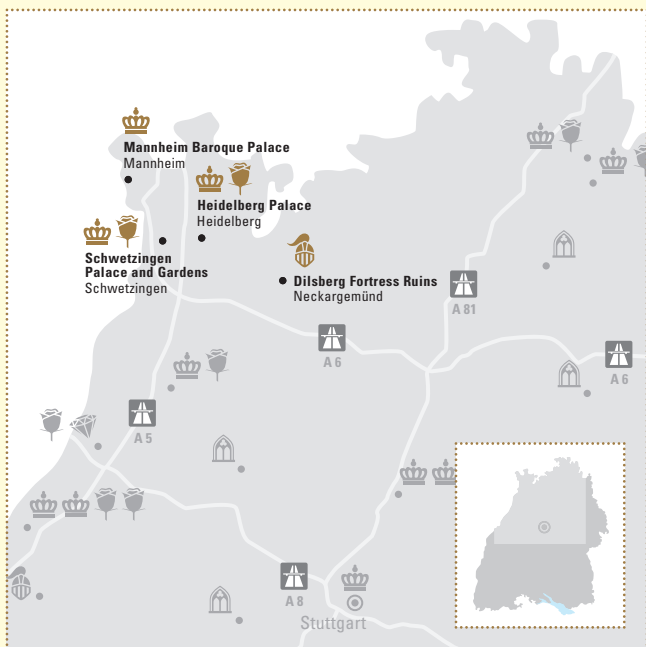

REGION 1

PROUD RESIDENCES OF THE ELECTORAL PALATINATE

The once-mighty electors of the Palatinate left their mark on this region. In the steep Neckar Valley, they built first a castle, then a Renaissance palace grand enough to rival any of the German emperor's residences. In the 18th century, they turned their attention to the wider Rhine Valley, constructing one of the largest Baroque palaces and an extraordinarily beautiful summer residence. These three sites—Heidelberg, Mannheim and Schwetzingen—reveal the rich history of this region.

REGION 2

MAGNIFICENT SIGHTS OF THE BADEN REGION

Relive two golden ages in the history of the Baden region: the era of the Baroque margraves and prince-bishops as well as the stately 19th century of the grand dukes. Two highlights from the first period—the margraves' palaces in Rastatt and the prince-bishops' residence in Bruchsal—flank the city of Karlsruhe. Later, the city became the cultural center and an elegant seat of the progressive grand dukes, and is well worth exploring.

BRUCHSAL PALACE

THE ONLY ECCLESIASTICAL RESIDENCE ON THE UPPER RHINE

Visitors entering the grand courtyard at Bruchsal Palace (Schloss Bruchsal) are greeted by a splendid and colorful sight. The palace is famous for its opulent staircase, constructed by Balthasar Neumann, and known as the “crown jewel of all Baroque staircases”.

REGION 3

MYSTERIOUS RUINS OF THE UPPER RHINE

The ruined castles of the Upper Rhine offer a captivating combination of history and nature, with just a dash of adventure. Once upon a time, the region's noble lords built their strongholds on the hills of the Black Forest, taking advantage of the sweeping vistas. Their formerly mighty castles have long since fallen into ruin, but climb these crumbling towers and walls and you will be rewarded by spectacular views of the Upper Rhine Valley.

HOCHBURG CASTLE

AN AWE-INSPIRING FORTRESS IN THE UPPER RHINE VALLEY

REGION 4

MEDIEVAL MONASTIC LIFE IN THE BLACK FOREST

The monks of the Middle Ages had a divine mission: to establish monasteries in the wilderness, far from civilization. So they built awe-inspiring edifices in the secluded valleys and lonely foothills of the Black Forest. The construction of such architectural masterpieces in these vast, remote forests was, and remains, a remarkable achievement.

38

MAULBRONN MONASTERY

UNESCO WORLD HERITAGE SITE WITH AN ENCHANTING ATMOSPHERE

Maulbronn Monastery (Kloster Maulbronn) is one of Europe's most well-preserved Medieval monastery complexes. It combines a multitude of architectural styles, ranging from Romanesque to late Gothic. HOMELANDS OF THE HOHENSTAUFEN DYNASTY

The homelands of the famous Hohenstaufen dynasty—also known as the Stauffer—are rich in history. The beauty of this landscape adds to its charm. The sweeping views from the top of the impressive Hohenstaufen hill take in a castle and a monastery, both inextricably linked to the legendary House of Hohenstaufen. And all within walking distance of each other.

LORCH MONASTERY

THE STAUFER BURIAL SITE

REGION 8

FROM SCHÖNBUCH TO ALBTRAU

This is where rulers would meet to go hunting in the broad expanses of forest between Schönbuch and the Swabian Alb. Today it is not so much a question of hunting but of hiking and enjoying the charm of the landscape. And gazing in awe at the finest quality of Gothic architecture in Bebenhausen, in the mighty Württemberger Residential Palace in Urach, or delighting in the charms of the ducal widow's seat in Kirchheim unter Teck and the breathtaking view from the Hohenneuffen Fortress Ruins. The Domnick Collection in Nürtingen provides an opportunity to experience modern art in a unique atmosphere.

BEBENHAUSEN MONASTERY AND PALACE

AN EXTRAORDINARY ENSEMBLE IN AN IDYLIC SETTING

A tour around the monastery church, summer refectory, dormitory and well house brings the history of this former Cistercian monastery to life. Founded in 1183–1184, Bebenhausen Monastery (Kloster Bebenhausen) is nestled in the gently rolling hills of the Schönbuch Nature Reserve. In the 19th century, the kings of Württemberg converted parts of the complex into a private hunting palace (Schloss Bebenhausen). You can still admire the original furnishings today.

URACH RESIDENTIAL PALACE

ONE OF WÜRTTEMBERG'S LATE MEDIEVAL PALACES

Modelled on the Altes Schloss (Old Castle) in Stuttgart, Urach Residential Palace (Residenzschloss Urach) was built in the late 14th century and soon became the home of Count Ludwig I von Württemberg. After the reunification of Württemberg in 1482, the palace became a well-frequented residence and hunting lodge for the Dukes of Württemberg.

KIRCHHEIM PALACE

A FORTRESS AND DOWERS HOUSE

An attractive Renaissance-style building, Kirchheim Palace (Schloss Kirchheim) is probably the most well-maintained example of the fortresses built by the Duchy of Württemberg. And as the only remaining dower house, or widows' residence, it offers a rare glimpse into 19th century home life.

HEUNEBURG – CELTIC CITY OF PYRENE

EUROPE'S MOST IMPORTANT CELTIC CITADEL

This Celtic hilltop settlement is the oldest city north of the Alps. In the 6th century BCE—while ancient Rome was still a small city on the Tiber river—Heuneburg was in its heyday, something reflected in the sensational archaeological finds discovered there.
